Chelsea house prices climb 21% in a year

Thursday 6th May 2010

Estate agent Knight Frank has reported that prices of prime London properties rose 1.3% in April and are now 21% higher than their post-crash low reached in March last year.

James Moss, director at Curzon Investment Property, an investment agent specialising in buying, refurbishing and letting out properties for high-end investors, said: "With low interest rates and a cheap pound, foreign investors have been having a field day acquiring trophy assets across Kensington and Mayfair." Have your say on this story using the comment section below
