New Trick For Old Dog?

First Triathlon in 55 Years Confirms Kids Still Come First!

Great Ormond Street Hospital For Children (GOSH) is a globally renowned center of excellence in London, for the treatment of sick children.

James Moss of Curzon is raising money for them by undertaking his first ever triathlon on May 17th at Eaton Dorney, just outside of London, "The Property Triathlon."

Both events are very much about survival!

We'd like to please ask for your support of GOSH by sponsoring James as generously as you can (no matter how small as every penny counts!) by clicking:

This is what GOSH is all about:

Christianne and mum, Joanne

Christianne was diagnosed with neuroblastoma at Great Ormond Street Hospital (GOSH) and received treatment over the Christmas period.

Samaa

Samaa, shortly after she was born, needed life-saving surgery for a rare congenital heart condition.

Jack, 11, was born with a cyst on his brain which caused uncontrollable seizures and weakened the left side of his body.

We are very grateful for any support for GOSH that you can provide.

And on the Triathlon we'll let you know how it all turns out - a happy ending for all - as with all these kids stories above - we hope!
